City of Sedalia: Winter Weather Advisory Wednesday, Feb. 12, 2020

The National Weather Service has issued a Winter Weather Advisory including the Sedalia area from 6:00 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 12, 2020 until midnight, Wednesday night. The weather forecast for the Sedalia area includes rapidly dropping temperatures along with snow accumulation of up to 3 inches possible as a result of this storm. Travelers should anticipate slippery road conditions that could impact morning and evening commutes. Additional snow accumulation of up to 2 inches is forecast for Wednesday night into Thursday morning.

Should significant snow accumulations occur, we encourage residents to remain home and limit travel until Street Department crews have an opportunity to clear roadways. For those who must travel, you are encouraged to have an extra flashlight, food and water in your vehicle in case of an emergency.

Should the weather result in accumulations of 2 or more inches of snow, the City will activate EMERGENCY SNOW ROUTES to allow the designated roadways to be easily cleared for emergency and other vehicles. Parking is prohibited along Emergency Snow Routes as Street Department plows need access to clear and open the roadways. The Street Department will work to keep these designated streets as clear as possible. We appreciate everyone's cooperation in keeping vehicles off Emergency Snow Routes. A map is available on the City's website at the following link that details which city streets are designated Emergency Snow Routes as well as those designated by the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT):
